About Play Inclusive

Co-organised by Special Olympics Singapore and SportCares, and supported by the Ministry of Education, Play Inclusive is a campaign that provides a platform for athletes with disabilities and their unified partners (individuals without disabilities) to build friendship, understanding, and inclusion through shared sporting experiences.

Through the campaign, athletes and their unified partners train together leading up to the competition. The campaign culminates in a fun and exciting competition. We believe this shared experience will facilitate the integration of individuals with special needs into the community, as well as educate and sensitise those without special needs to the needs of others.

This year, there are over 800 players participating in the two day event. There are two new additions to the event – Skills Challenges for floorball and basketball for persons with intellectual disabilities, and goalball, a sport for persons with visual impairment. These additions have allowed more people with different abilities to participate in the Play Inclusive campaign.

ABOUT SPECIAL OLYMPICS SINGAPORE

Special Olympics Singapore is the only registered social service agency in Singapore solely dedicated to providing sporting recreational activities and sports training and competition opportunities for children and adults with intellectual disabilities. It was first started in April 1983 as an adjunct committee of the Movement for the Intellectually Disabled of Singapore (MINDS) and the Association for the Educationally Subnormal Children now known as the Association for Persons with Special Needs (APSN).

Today it is an officially registered social service agency affiliated to the National Council of Social Service and the Singapore National Olympic Council. SO Singapore is recognised as a National Sports Association (NSA) by Sport Singapore. SO Singapore is also a certified Institute of Public Character (IPC) organisation.
